TROUT FISHING AT NIGHT

Full instructions Are Given by the Greatest of All Anglers, Izaak Walton.

You are to know there is night as that in the night the hest trouts come teed to give satisfaction. out of their bolds. And the manner of taking them is on the top of the water with a great lob or garden worm, or rather two, which you are to fish with in a stream where the waters run somewbat quietly, for in a stream the bait will not be so well discerned. I say in a quiet or dead place, near to some swift, there draw your balt over the top of the water, to and fro, and if there be a good trout in the hole, he will take it, especially if the night be dark, for then be is bold, and lies near the top of the water, watching the motion of any frog or water rat, the sky; these he hunts after if be sees the water but wrinkle or move in one of these dead holes, where these great old trouts usually lle, near to their holds; for you are to note that the great old trout is both subtle and fearful, and lies close all day, and does not usually stir out of his hold, but lles in it as close in the day as the timorous hare does in her form; for the chief feeding of either is seldom in the day, but usually in the night, and then Walton's Compleat Angler.

KEEPING THE STREETS CLEAN

Suggestions of New York Man for Securing Pure Air in the Large Cities.

William Van V. Hayes of New York presents suggestions for improving the care of the streets in New York so as to secure pure air. All sorts of micro-organisms are found in the dust of the streets; anthrax, tuberculosis, diphtheria, tetanus, typhoid and dysentery have been detected in it. The tubercle bacillus when dried is large, thick crusts and left in a cold, dark place like a corridor will live for six to eight months. The bad condition of the streets is in part due to carelessness of the citizens and in part to antiquated methods of cleaning. The removal of ashes in cans on a long automobile cart, without emptying them in the street, is advocated. The use of vacuum cleaning wagons is advisable. The people must be educated not to throw things into the street: Spitting should be forbidden in the streets as well as on sidewalks and proper receptacles provided. Cats and dogs should not be kept in the city and automobiles should take the place of the borse, whose the streets should be more frequent.

The subway should have in front of stations an improved roadbed that can be cleaned properly; the entering air should be screened and dust-gather-

In the Jewish District of New York Food is Especially Prepared for Pupils.

Six hundred and thirty Jewish children of New York had luncheon the other dny for the small sum of three cents each at the opening of the new kosher kitchen just installed in public school No. 92. This is the third large school in the city, to operate its own lunch room.

The idea is to determine whether children in New York elementary schools suffer from malnutrition and whether serving lunch at cost price in the school buildings will tend to raise the standard of scholarship in the Jewish district, the cooking is done according to kosher methods.

Before school each morning brass checks good for one full meal are sold in the school yard. At nine o'clock word is sent to the cook as to the number of luncheons that will be required, at noon. This does away with all waste of food. The meals are served by the children and they do the clearing up and the dish washing under supervision.

Many of the children come from homes where the mothers work out by the day and there is no one to prepare the luncheon should they go home for it. The medical examination shows that the children who have purtaken of the lunches are in far better physical condition and are doing better school work than those who have done without.

"God Save the King." We have no real knowledge of "God Save the King" before the rebellion of '45, when it became a popular loyallst song, but tunes of the snme shape had existed long before. One is to be found in a book "Ayres," dated 1619, by Dr. John Bull, and another as a minuet by Purcell. According to Prices paid by wholesale dealers to the King" used to be sung in James 11.'s private chapei to a Latin hynin beginning "O Deus Optime," and after the revolution of 1688 was preserved by members of the Stuart famliy, till it was performed publicly about 1742, on the hirthday of tho princess of Wales. It is interesting to find that the words "God save the king" are in Coverdale's Bible of 1535, and seem to have been used there as a familiar phraso rather than a translation. WOMAN IS FREED

Texas Jury Acquits Her of Charge of First Degree Murder.

STORY A SENSATIONAL ONE

For Two Years Woman Prayed for Her Victim, Than Shot Har When Prayar Did Not Prove Efficacious-Dead Woman Stole Har Husband.

Fort Worth, Tex.—The unwritten law in Texas applies to women as wail as men, acording to a jury at Fort Worth, which cleared Mrs. T. M. Brooks, charged with first degree murwhom she charged with trying to break up her home. Insanity was the was not a word on insanity mentioned in the trinl. The story of how Mrs. Brooks, always prominent in Methodist church circles, prayed every day for two years that the lord would make a better woman of Mrs. Binford, and how, after hearing, unwittingly, a telephone conversation between her husband and Mrs. Binford, Mrs. Brooks gave up the struggle and resolved to kili the woman who had spoiled her life, made one of the most sensational murder trials Texas has had for years.

It was Mrs. J. W. Boyd, formerly a next door neighbor of the Brooks', who declared that she knew of her own knowledge that the defendant had prayed for the redemption of Mrs. Binford, change her husband's disposition and end her troubles. Mrs. Boyd had talked to the witness frequently as to what courso should be pursued to end matters so everybody would be satisfied and they decided that prayer alone could accomplish

"We were very happy until we moved to Fort Worth," said Mrs. Brooks on the stand. Then she told how Mrs. Binford came into her life nearly five years ago. Sho said:

"She came to my husband's office to get n divorce, and Mr. Brooks called me up and sald: 'Mamma, there is a woman in my office who wants me to has no friends in the city and little money. What do you say if I bring her up tonight?"

"She came. That was the beginning. Welcoming her as a friendless young woman in a strange city and with a desire to give her n good start, I fostered the cause of my wrecked happiness, stood it as long as 1 could and then killed her.

FIRST CARICATURE OF BONEY | V. L. GATES.

It Was Prodused When Napoleon Was Yet at the Military Academy at Napoleon in caricature is one of the most prolific of subjects. Indeed European political caricature from 1798 until 1815 may be said to have been Napoleon. Although in France this form of pictoral art was rigidly suppressed, Giray and Rowlandson in England and a score of artists in Germany and Austria were depicting the great emperer as the most infamous of monsters.

The first known caricature of Bonaparte was drawn years before the first consulate, when the Bourbons still sat upon the throne of France. It is reproduced in Norwood Young's "The Growth of Napoleon." Young Bonaparte's years at the military academy at Brienne were not happy ones. He was a Corsican, and at that time Coratea was a recently conquered province.

The cartoon, which was drawn by a schoolmate, represents the future emperor standing, a severe and determinder in slaying Mrs. Mary Binford ed look upon his face, with both hands on the top of a musket, resting the butt on the ground. NAPOLEON III. AT SEDAN

Zola's Story That He Rouged His Cheeks Before the Battle is Absolutely Denied.

The author of "The Empress Eugenie, 1870-1910," writes: In Miscelinny (April 10) you refer to "the story that Napoleon Ill., pale and haggard with iliness, rouged his cheeks before the battle of Sedan, to make a fine and emperor on that fatal day is cited from the powerful "Debaole" in support of the "story," Allow me to say that, if the evidence of some who were with the emperor on the day of the battle is deemed worthy of consideration (and personally I have no doubt about it), Zola was entirely wrong. By his own account, he composed his marvelous narrative from hearsay. He had not the advantage, as I had, of being on the battlefield (with the Germans) from early morning until nightfall.

Some five years ago the question Was the emperor's face rouged at the battle of Sedan?" was very fully discussed in the Paris papers, the late Paul de Cassagnac and Luc Lill living Robert Mitchell (who were with e emperor during the fighting) were among other eye-witnesses who gave an absolute denial to Zola's assertion. Others testify to the same effect. Princess Mnthilde, the emperor's cousin, scouted the idea that Napoleon was rouged, nithough as sho was not at Sedan her evidence is not of much account. On other points I can personally confirm Zola's picture of the horrors of the battlefield of the first of September, 1870.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing iils pe-culiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for fe maie ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THEY WISHED TO TELL BILL

So Wife and Sister of Deceased Spiritualist Went to Play He Wanted to See.

A sad-eyed man approached George Dunleavy, box office man at one of the uptown theaters, according to the New York correspondence of the Cincinnati Times-Star. "Do you think it would be right for two ladies, both in mourning, to go to the theater?" he asked.

Mr. Dunleavy said that he thought it would be positively commendable. He went on to show that great grief needs a day off now and then. That he remembered a bit of folklore he had read somewhere. "You know," said he, "that 'the tears of the mourners burn holes in the shroud?""

The sad eyed man said that he didn't know that. He was greatly interested. Under Mr. Dunleavy's eyes he pulled out a small memorandum book and made a note of it. "I shall ask about that," said he. "That is most interesting and important, if it is true." Then he turned to business. "Give me two aisle seats for two ladies in mourning." Mr. Dunleavy dished them head doubtfully. "It doesn't seem just proper to me," said he, "but I s'pose in this case it is all right. You see-" and he lapsed into confidences -"all our folks are Spiritualists, and my brother-in-law Bill died the other day. Now, Bill he always wanted to see this show of yours. He talked about it just a day or two before he passed out, and so his wife trip to Baltimore and Washington, and my wife, they kind of figured they'd come and see the show and then tell Bill about it."

KEEP THESE THINGS IN MIND

Some of the Superstitions That Are Prevalent Among the People of Today.

It is said that if a black cat follows you it betokens good luck, but if a cat leaves the house which has been its home some misfortune is about to happen. If you put on your stocking or sock the wrong side out it is lucky, but if you change it to the right side nothing will come of it. If, when unfolding clean linen, you find a diamond shaped crease, Robt. L. Green, candidate for the that is a sign of death within a year. your lover or husband is thinking of you. If you cannot get a fire to burn your sweetheart is in a bad temper. To stumble on going upstairs is a sure sign of a wedding: two spoons in one sancer the same If you cut a baby's nails instead of biting them it will be light tingered. To open an umbrella in a house is a portent of misfortune; to drop one a disappointment; but if any one else picks it up the disappointment passes on to him or her. If a piece of cotton gets into a girl's hair it is a sure sign of a letter; but the cotton must not be removed by a stranger or no letter will come.

SCHUBERT'S WONDERFUL GIFT.

Many pianists have noticed that the ability to carry on a conversation and at the same time play upon an instrument is by no means unusual. It is thus proven that it is really possible to do two things at once. The piano playing is under such circumstances the automatic result of many previous repetitions. Schubert, however, was gifted with the ability of holding a running conversation and at the same time writing down entirely new and original musical compositions. Those who knew him well used to state that the musical side of his nature existed like a separate and different thing.

SUGGESTION ACCEPTED.

How the duke of Connaught came to be called Patrick and to receive his Irish title is the subject of an interesting story. When Queen Victoria, after her first visit to Ireland, was leaving Dublin in August, 1849, she drove to Kingstown, and on the way an old Irish woman called to her: "Musha, ma'am, won't you call your next son Patrick?" Queen Victoria nodded smilingly; and sure enough her son born in the following year received the name of Patrick among others and ultimately was created duke of Connaught.

BLOWS TO ENGLISH WRITIN

Remarks of Stephen Crane and Ford Madox Hueffer About Stevenson and Rosetti.

Ford Madox Hueffer, whom 'Memories and Impressions" deals with poets, painters and musicians from the time of Morris and Ruskin almost down to the present hour likes to tell of an irreverent remark he once heard the late Stephen Crane make about Robert Louis Stevenson. "I remember," says Mr. Hueffer, "hearing him, with his wonderful eyes flashing and his extreme vigor and intonation, comment upon a sentence he was reading. The sentence was: With interjected finger he delayed the motion of the timepiece.' Crane exclaimed: 'By God! poor dear! That man put back the clock of English fiction fifty years." In his book, however, Mr. lineffer. says that in his opinion "the art of writing in English received the numbing blow of the sandbag when Rosetti at the age of eighteen wrote 'The Blessed Damozel.' From that time forward the idea has been inherent in the mind of the English writer that writing was a matter of out. The sad eyed man shook his digging for obsolete words."-Harper's Weekly.

The Golfer-Do you play golf? Chauffeur-No, it is so very hard to hit anybody.

JUDGE SUSTAINED HIM.

To be called redheaded is sufficient provocation to start a fight, if the manner of the person using . the name is manifestly unfriendly, according to a decision handed down by Police Judge Pollard.

This important ruling was made in the case of Bert E. Manley va. Solomon Weisman and Jerome Weisman. Manley did not deny the patent physical fact that his halr to red. He admitted that if one of his friends slapped him on the back and. affectionately said: "Hello, you redhead!" he would not be angry. He testified it was different when the Weisman brothers called him. that.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

WISDOM'S COURSE.

When Amos J. Cummins was a member of the house of representatives he went on a hunting expedition with his friend, Capt. Howard F. Kennedy. One day when they were rather hungry they approached a farmhouse, the door of which was wide open, but no member of the family was at home. A big bulldog welcomed them kindly and Captain Kennedy started up the stairs leading to the portico when the dog quit wagging his tail, showed his teeth and growled ominously. Cummins stepped outside the gate and called: "Go ahead, Howard; and if he bites you, we'll run."

BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT.

A Socialist Woman's club in Indianapolis recently denounced the boy scout idea as one of the aids to ideas of militarism that are in favor with certain persons. Evidently the club has not looked very seriously into the subject, as the boy scout has other things to do besides bearing, arms. He is pledged to maintain the good order of the country and to, take the greatest pride in his ownpart of it. Moreover, in matters of personal import he is taught to keep himself clean and honest that he may be a good citizen.

Tallor's Spouse Entertained Women Customers During Fittings so They Would Stand Naturally.

For a long time people wondered why the tailor's wife came into the shop as soon as a customer came in to try on a skirt and sat around telling funny stories till the fitting was over. One day the tailor explained.

CHICKEN ROAST IN SCHOOL

in Iowa many rural schols are so at- their own expense." tractive that city boys are sent out of the city to attend the rural school. I know one country school in which there are six children from city schools. A "chicken roast" is the latest school attraction that I have known. A teacher is making the schoolhouse the center of social life for the district. She does not like the idea of having a dance in the school, and she will not have kissing fracases, so she plans various social functions with stunts and games that have abundance of life, that are new, that are harmless. She does quite a little along the line of refreshments, and every one takes a part in the preparation as well as in disposing of the feast. The greatest success she has ever had was a chicken roast. It was in the autumn, and was in the school yard. It was a close approach to a barbecue. Every man, woman and child in the district was there. Nothing else has ever aroused such an interest in the Kile district .- Journal of Education.

That the reputation of the state of There is a period of French history New York as a fur bearing district which is particularly interesting in has not been entirely lost and that this way because the stamps issued at that reputation so far as Wayne county is eoneerned is still being kept up is shown by the fact that approximately $30,000 worth of furs Barre's head of Liberty and the words were shipped to New York by one dealer during the fall of 1910 and so far during 1911.

The Moguls left June 15 and went to McLeansboro, where they won only one of the 3 games. They went next to Harrisburg and took the series. Went to Cairo the 21st and lost the first, won the second and played the third game yesterday. They are now at Fulton.

The first streak of bad luck hit the Moguls at Cairo Thursday, when Catcher Huhn's hand was so badly split that he had to be taken out of the game. Jones was taken out of the left field and put behind the bat and the game was played out and won, in spite of the accident.

There can appear no virtue in the ery of a "Square Deal" so long as there exists a monopoly of intelligence, in a state where society is composed of individuals equally endowed by nature, yet to the 'great' masses of whom all the light of human achievement and the social heritage of truth are denied.

Through a permanently organized campaign for educational improvement, readjusted ideals must be converted into practical realities. Thus will the latent energies of society be Kentueky.

Immence Circle of Acqueintances Created for Ue by Minds of Great Writers.

An enthusiast's dictionary of the novels of Sir Walter Scott Inform that there are no less than 2,836 charactors in his stories. These figures serve to make us realise how surpassingly large is the circle of purely imaginative acquaintances whose names and characteristics and stories the lover of literature and art stores .in. his memory in the course of a lifetime, and how cosmopolitan the company is.

In infancy we are introduced to the early racial circle of acquaintances whom we inherit from our earliest ancestors-fairles good and wicked, heroes of many climes, imaginary people whom we never forget and do not allow to be forgotten by those who come after us. Then follow the giants of childhood-Robinson Crusoe, Christian the Pilgrim, Don Quixote, Gulliyer. Passing acquaintances, once liked, but readily forgotten, we pass over. And now the circle widens suddealy. The companions of a lifetime come trooping out of the past and present-Homer's heroes and heroines, King Arthur's court, Canterbury pilgrims. Shakespeare's immortal company, the men and women Thackeray drew, a few of George Elliot's characters, Dickens' unforgettable types, and from abroad, Dumas' swashhucklers, Balzao's crowded human comedy, some of Daudet's personages, Tolstoy's Anna, Kipling's Soldiers Three and junglefolk, Hester Prynne, Mere dith's great creations, Anatole France's M. Bergeret and his contemporaries.-New York Trihune.

WOMAN'S COURAGE IS HIGH

English Sociologist Advances the Theory That This is Due to the Maternal instinct.

In high poilce circles woman's trait of conrage that exceeds their physical strength is regarded as no new manifestation in the proverbially weaker

"Ever since I became associated with police work," said one experienced officer, "I have noticed that women seemed always ready to help any one in apparent difficulties. Perhaps because they are weak themselves they are disposed readily to help the weaker side without thought of consequences to themselves."

A highly interesting explanation of this undoubted hravery in women was vouchsafed hy J. W. Slaughter, the eminent English sociologist, who assigned female courage largely to the maternal instinct. "Nothing on earth can be more feroclous, more dangerous and more courageous than the female animal defending her young. The maternal instinct in woman is in Itself an inspiration to courage. You will never see a woman on the sdge of a crowd taking the side of the up per dog. Women, moreover, act more directly than men. They are more impulsive and less calculating.

We are accustomed to think of women as afraid of this or that, but it is hecause they have not really had experience. Courage is, after all, a matter of experience. One is not afraid of things one is used to or knows how to deal with.

Tipping in the Dark.

He had quite fost his English accent, his English manner, and his English appearance—that waiter I met the other day, but one little trick that he retained hetrayed him for a countryman of mine," said the Englishman When I offered him a tip he turned his hack upon me and stretched his hand out helind him to receive it.

"Nobody but an English walter of the old school would have received a tip with so much humility. It was never the custom to cultivate that modest demeanor anywhere except in the tight little island. The old servitors there thought it a sign of dishonor to glue the eye on a fee hefore it had left the customer's hand, hut the new generation of English waiters is as greedy as their hrethren in other lands and makes a forward thrust for whatever is offered."

Refined Torture.

The oft-recurring question of the meanest man had found its way into the couversation.

"The meanest man on earth." alleged Jones, "lives in Philadelphia-City of Brotherly Love. He resides in an apartment hotel. Ills hedroom window gives upon a court which is possessed of terrific acoustle properties. This meanest man snores. With the coming of spring sleepers in the court opened wider their windows. So did the mean man-the accomplished snorer. lifa fellow-tenants suffered. They hegged him to desist. Now what do you think he did?"

Nobody guessed.

"He rigged up a megaphone, caused it to project into the open court, and snored into it all night."

Love of Nature.

It is a mistake to conclude that men are insensible to those heauties which they are not continually talking about and analyzing—that the love of Nature is a new feeling because the taste for the picturesque is a modern taste. When the mountaineer descends into the plain, he soon begins to pine for his native bilis, and many have been known to fall sick-nay, even to dia, of that love. Yet had he never left the hills, you would never have heard him prate about them .- Julius Charles Writer Tells of His Narrow Co From the Deadly Reptile of the Australian Bush.

The blacksnake is the danger of the Australian bush, and a deadly reput he is, whose bite will kill any one about eight minutes. Yet, notwice standing all the warnings I was given I never could remember to be on the lookout for snakes nor to avoid doing such foolish things as sitting on a dead tree trunks, which are their favorite hiding places.

I had just fired two barrels at m rabbit when just in front of me i saw a long, gnarled, black stick, a charred branch of a dead gum, as I thought Another moment I should carelessly have stepped either across or on it. when one of the ladies of the party, who was walking with us, seized my arm and pulled me backward, calling out in a voice of terror: "Take care it's a snake!" Roused by her voice. my "stick" woke up and a long black enake wriggled away in front of us. The snake had got to its hole, but my rescuer gallantly belabored it with her stick, while my other companions rushed up and blew the tail off at a shot. Then one of the men dashed away for a spade, with which it was bores to make sure of killing it. was a hig snake and measured well over three feet. We were far more pleased with our one blacksnake than if we had shot a bundred rahhita. Westminster Gazette.

MEASURES 100,000TH OF INCH

New Apparatus of English Invention That Will Determine Extremely Minute Distances.

The extreme delicacy of scientific measurement is shown by an apparatus of English invention for comparing official standards of length its action depends upon the interference of light waves, causing shadow bands, the width of which is half the wave length of the light employed.

The red radiation from hydrogen on cadmium is used, and its wave length is, say, the 50-1,000th of an inch. The machine carries two microscopes, one of which is attached to one of the glass plates reflecting the light and producing the interference bands.

First, the recognised etandard rodsay the imperial standard yard—is placed under the two microscopes, and one of its terminal marks is brought under the spider lines of each. Them the rod to be tested is substituted, and one of its terminals is accuratein adjusted.

if it varies from the length of the standard, the other microscope, carrying the reflector, must be shifted until coincidence is obtained. The nume ber of bands that move past during the shifting, multiplied by the ball wave-lengths of the light, gives difference in length of the rods. -Se entific American.

Not Beautiful to Modern Eyes.

The famous beauties of the work are wise when they leave no portraits of themselves, says a writer. Take Marguerite of Valois. She was an immoral, dishonorable, criminal, scheme ing, unscrupulous, villainous, but she was dowered with such charm that there was not a jaller or an enemy, she could not charm If she tried. No. nor a woman-even the wives of her lovers. Men came from every country, taking year-long journeys, only to see her, and went away after a livtie gilmpse saying they had "seen loveliness itself." Then one sees her portraits. Too much forehead, not enough eyehrow; a straight nose and expressive mouth (in one picture a lovely mouth)—and that is all. Mary Queen of Scots was lovely-three kingdoms battled because of her beauty-and yet her pictures leave one cold. Fouche said her portrait showed every trait of the lowest criminal type. That was before he knew whose picture he criticised.

Ancient "Remedies."

Some of the sufferers from coughs and colds may feel disposed to try one of the remedies recommended by Pliny. These include wolf's liven dissolved in hot wine, honey mixed with the gail of a bear and powders made from rahbit skins and buliock's horns burned and pounded together. Should one's llls resist these simple remedies for a cough he might try wrapping any of his flugers in the skin of a freshly killed dog. Tree frogs, too, are excellent for all forms of eatarrh. Place one in the mouth for a minute, and when he makes his escape the sufferer is cured. No harm is done to the frog. For a cold in the head Pilny prescribes a simple yet infallible remedy-three kisses on the mouth of a mule.

Napeleon in the Sepuicher.

When, after the Battle of Jena, Napoleon invaded Prussia, he visited Potsdam, which contains the mortal remains of the Prussian kings. The sepulcher of Frederick the Great occupled a prominent site in the mausoleum. When entering the latter, Napoleon uncovered his head, and went directly up to the sarcephagus of the noted warrior.

. For a mement the conqueror stood still, seemingly absorbed in deep thought. Then with the ferefinger of his right hand be wrote the word "Napoleon" in the dust of the huge stone casket, and turning to his marshale infant is Found in London Who Hooks Eyes on Cards for His Poor Mother.

A hahy aged two and one-half years who works for his living by hooking eyes on a card for his poor, working mother, has been discovered in Lon-

"Gravely and industriously this baby teller placed hook after hook in its place on the cord, saving a few minutes every hour to the mother who earns three shillings a week at the most monotonous, weary, treadmill type of woman's work that exists. There are 12 hooks and eyes on each card, and the worker is paid tenpence for every gross of cards. First she sews the hooks on the cards and the child links each hook with an eye.

Then the eyes are stitched in place." In Great Britain there are 200,000 school children in full attendance who work out of school hours for wages. There are between 80,000 and 90,000 haif-timers who do a haif-day in the factory and a half-day in the school, whlist the full-time workers between thirteen and fourteen years of , age probably number 800,000. From these statistics alone it can be seen that over half a million children under fourteen years of age are hreadwinners. There are 120,000 factory children under fourteen and nearly 400,-000 children and young persons under eighteen years of age working in the factorles.

The Remnant.

This world is full of people whose whole happiness and inner salvation depend on their doctrine and practice of the remnant. We have referred already to the decay and obscurity of later life. But the position is equally true of multitudes in their prime. With them also the fragment is all that seems left. They have lost the thing which made life desirable. Their fortune has gone, or their friend, or their health. Passion has wrought disillusion. The man or woman on whom they had staked their affections is not what they thought. The cup which hrimmod and sparkled has turned into a draught of hitterness. is this, then, life's defeat? Not unless we so choose. There is no loss of fortune, no wreck of personal affection, no disaster in the sphere of the visible but can be turned by the soul's inner energy into some higher phase of the living .- J. Brierley.

Aeroplane is Simple.

The working parts of the modern flying machine are infinitely fewer in number than those of the automobile, the motor hoat, the railroad locomotive or the steamship. Far more complex is the operation of a high-powered motor car than that of a high-powered aeroplane. Far more delicately adjusted are the thousands of parts of the steam or electric locomotive than the mechanism of the flying machine. it is this very simplicity of construction and operation that has enabled the aeroplane to outdo in continuous motion every other known form of conveyance, except steamers, motor boats and sailing ships, and these ast named are able to maintain their notion only hecause of their huge iriving mechanism, out of all proportion to the buik that is propelled.

The day following the mother said suddenly: "Margaret, what does 'ca-t spell?" The did not have to wait for an answer. Quick as a flash the shild turned toward her.

"Mitz." she replied.

CARRETA HAS LONG HISTORY, FORGOT HER SECOND WEDDING

Ancient Indian Vehicle That Has Book In Use Over Two Hundred Years.

The ancient carrets, now in the exhibit room of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, has had an eventful history, as wagons go. It was the property of Alfonso, a Tesuque In-dian, eighty-five years old. Alfonso said it had belonged to his greatgrandfather and that it had been exhibited at a local fleeta years before as the oldest carrets in the neighborbood. From these facts, well substantiated, and the great age to which indians live, as a rule, this ancient carreta la estimated to be much over 200 years old. It was purchased by Capain Newton Chittenden, a noted indian explorer, antiquarian and ethnologist, now living in Pomona, Cal.

On November 28, 1896, this old time cart left Redlands, . Cal., on its ewn wheels and reached Los Angeles Decomber 15, a distance of over, sixty miles. Captain Chittenden accompanied it, camping on the way and walked most of the distance, watching with anxious eyes to see that it did net fail to pieces, like the "deacon's wonderful one-horse shay," from its great age. But it survived the journey in good shape and was hauled to the Chamber of Commerce exhibit room, where, sheltered from wind and weather; it may remain a possible 200 vears more.

The wheels are made of cross sections of a sycamore tree, 38 inches in diameter and about six inches thick at the outer rim. The hubs are of one piece with the body of the wheels One Recognized the Letter Was Overand are roughly extended out to a length of 18 inches. Wooden pina through the axie secure the .ciumsy wheeis. The hody is made of cottonwood, excepting the tongue, which is a twisted and gnaried stick of mesquite four feet long. It was driven hy oxen hitched to the horns with thongs of rawhide. Its counterpart may he seen in the country districta of Mexico today, drawn in a similar manner, as this was when new, 200 years and more ago.

WHEN THE BARD WAS YOUNG

How Shakespeare Delighted Sir Man msduke With Hie Recitation of Some Exquisite Bailads.

"Let us hear of it then, and quickly," cried Sir Marmaduke, putting his hand kindly upon the boy's head. William Shakespeare saw all eyea were fixed upon him; yet there was a friendliness in every aspect which gave him nought to fear. Standing where he was, with a graceful carriage of himself, and a wonderful pleasant delivery, he presently went on with the verses.

"Bravely spoken!" exclaimed - the old knight, who had observed and listened to the hoy manifestly with a more than ordinary satisfaction in his henevolent pleasant aspect. "Never heard I aught more properly delivered."

"Nor I, hy'r lady," said Master Peregrine, in a similar excellent humor. "Where didst learn this exquisite baliad, young sir?"

"An' it piesse you, my mother taught it me," replied William Shake-

'Hast any' more such in thy memory?" inquired the other

"A score at least, an' it please you." answered the boy; "most moving ones of the doings of valiant knights; and sundry of a delicater sort, concerning of the love of fair ladies; hesides which i have store of fairy roundelays, that I learned of nurse, Ciceiy, which smack most sweetly of the dainty blossoms .- Williams, "The Youth of Shakespeare."

Speak Only on invitation.

In the heavily cushioned seats of a train speeding through Massachusotts eat Josiah White and his wife. It was he first time either had hoen outside the limits of St. Lawrence county, to say nothing of riding in such luxury, with new and ever-changing scenery around them. As the train neared Boston Josiah nudged his wife.

"Ahhie," said he, close to her ear, 'don't say a word to me and I won't to you while we're goin' through this city. It ain't polite, unless ye're invited."

"What!" "Yes. This is Boston, th' place we've heerd so much on as hein' th' city o' th' cultured, and I just overheerd one o' them distinguished-look in' gentlemen in the seat ahead tell th' other he wuz goin' to stop off here because he has been invited to speak here tonight."-Judge.

Ail in the Use. Even the best things, ill used, become evils, and, contrarily, the worst things used well prove good. A good tongue used to deceit; a good wit used to defend error; a strong arm to murder; authority to oppress; a good profession to dissemble; are all evil. Even God's own word is the sword of the spirit, which, if It kills not our vices, kilis our souls. Contrariwise (as poisons are used to wholesome medicines), afflictions and sins, by a good use, prove so gainful as nothing more. Words are as they are taken, and things are as they are used. There are even cursed blessings,-Blshop Hail,

Woman Signed Her First Married

Nams to Bank Cheek and Much . Trouble Resulted.

"I lost my identity once for the being after I was married to my ond hushand," said a woman who formerly lived in New York city, and who now dwells in a New England town. "Soon after my second marriage," she added, "I withdrew my personal funds from a New York hank and deposited the money in the town where I now live, giving my present name, of course, and leaving my signature, I had no occasion to draw against the deposit for nearly 'two months, and when I dld so I signed my first married name to the check.

The person to whom I gave the check did not know I was married to my present husband, as the transaction was one that did not require any mention of my second marriage. "When the check was sent to my bank in the town where I live it was returned, marked 'No funds.' check was forwarded to me by, the person to whom I gave it, and it was addressed to me as I had signed it. One of the curious things in connection with it was that my present husband is a director of the bank, but, of course, the cashier never thought to ask him, although the bank official knew my other married name. It is the sort of mistake that a woman makes only once."

TWO RATHER BRIGHT DOGS

Weight and the Other Perceived Wrong Address.

Two suhurhanites, one living near Morton and the other near Primos, were swapping stories of country life as they went home on the 5:35 train. "I have a most intelligent dog," said the Primos man. "I just hand him a letter and say: "There, Spot!' and off he goes to the post office. I gave him one yesterday and he dropped it. He refused to pick it up, but wagged his tail instead. I suspected something was wrong and picked up the letter and weighed it. It required two centa more postage." Without the least show of surprise the man from Morton proceeded with his story.

"Dogs are intelligent," he began, "My collie, Carlo, always posts my letters, and one day he, like your dog, dropped a letter on the floor. I thought posaibly one stamp was not enough, but in weighing the letter I found that the postage was all right. I gave it back to Carlo, hut he let it fall again to the floor. I inspected the letter carefully and found that It was addressed to South Penn square, New York, Instead of to Philadelphia."-Philadelphia Times.

Build an Altar for Ail.

There was a flat-topped rock covered with stones, and as I was looking a writer in the May Wide World says. several Somali women passed. Each one left the road and, selecting a stone, placed It on the heap. I inquired the reason of this. The Somail version is as follows: In the old days before the Somalis inhabited the country there was a very had man. After a career of crime, the Prophet Ali, one of Mohammed's successors, pursued him and caught him up hy the hig rock. The had man dodged All round the rock until the prophet, growing furious, drew his sword and split the rock clean in two, and the miscreant with it. In turning to go Ali's horse kicked, and the marks of his hoofs are shown in two round holes in the otherwise smooth stone. The split rock has just such an appearance, and from time immemorial it has been the custom for women passing to add a stone to the pile on the altar close by. The Somalis have many legends of the people who occupied the country before them, and talk of them as having been Persians.

Psace Wave Swept Ancient Egypt.

Until Cambyses with his Persian myriads swept across defeated Khem, and Phoenicia and Greece, adopting her stored-up wisdom, added thereto the graces of a more artistic ornamentation and aggressive commercial enterprise, Egypt led all nations in the arts of peace and the accumulation of wealth by peaceful trade. And while it is true that individual enterprise was largely hampered by the royal control of foreign trade, it must he remembered that the king acted largely as a trustee for his people and that the Egyptians under most of their sovereigns probably suffered less from plague and famine and were more justly ruled than most of their contemporarles.-"Noblity of the Trades-The Merchant," Charles Winslow Hall, in the National Magazine.

Delusions of the Ear.

There is a cure, it seems, for socalled delusions of the ear in deaf people who think they hear sounds like the whistling of wind, the rustling of leaves, the crackling noises of a telephone, thunder, organ pipes or shouting. Such sounds are remembered, says Doctor Marage, a French aurist, and are caused by personent excitation of the auditory nerve cen-

He has invented an apparatus for studying these really inaudible but none the less tormenting noises, which are apt to take the form in time of a persistent delusion, and he has sucbeeded in relieving many sufferers by applications of electric alternating currents of very high frequency or by
